Remember to check your culverts before the stormy weather begins

Falling leaves are the most common cause of catch basin and culvert drainage problems, The Whatcom County Public Works Department reminds local residents that maintenance of driveway culverts (including removal of weeds, brush, rocks, dirt and other debris) is the property owner's responsibility

Just a reminder...

Glenroads

If you live in Glenroads you are assessed road dues. These dues are $85 a year, please remember your road dues are paid to Glenroads not Glenhaven.

The pool Renovation is under way and on schedule.

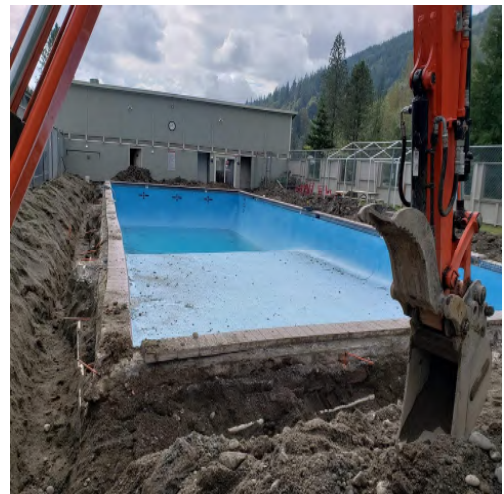

Hope to see you in the pool next summer!

Helpful information as we head into winter

With the exception of Glenroads, the roads in Glenhaven are county roads and the Whatcom county maintenance and operations department is responsible for the roads. To find out information on vegetation management, snow plowing, and the snow response policy please check out their website whatcomcounty.us.com then click departments-public works and maintenance and operations or you can call 360-778-6400 Have as safe and warm winter.
